Carleton Bingham And E. Gustafson Go To Boys State

Carleton Bingham and Earl Gustafson of Point Loma high school have been given the honor of going to the annual "Boys State" school in state government at Sacramento this summer. "Boys State" is a project promoted by the American Legion to teach practical civic government to leading high school boys.

On their arrival in Sacramento the boys are segregated into five "counties" which are divided into 15 "cities." The boys are also divided into two political parties.

On the second day candidates for the offices of city councilman, clerk, and treasurer circulate petitions during the city meeting. The counselor, an adult, checks the petitions and then the ballots are printed and the elections held. The elected city council then appoints a mayor and other officers necessary and the city government begins operating.

Names of the various students, wishing to attend "Boys' State," two of which have been chosen, are submitted by teachers or by personal application. Factors determining those selected are: mental alertness, honesty and morality, vigor and enthusiasm, sociability, sportsmanship, student body activities, interest in government, and scholarship.

Ocean Beach Sea Wall Expense To City, $10,056.36

Rhodes Will Report On Cost To Army Engineers

Cost to the city of San Diego for the rock sea wall that has been installed off and on during the past two years from the foot of Newport Ave., for about two blocks north was only $10,056.36, City Manager Fred A. Rhodes reported to the city council at this week's session, held Tuesday. He indicated that the city had been able to save considerable money in obtaining the rock by reason of being given rock material that had been salvaged from excavations made by contractors on federal construction projects in this area. As a matter of fact had the city been obliged to buy all the rock used, the cost would have been $37.154.88, the city manager stated.

Rhodes was superintendent of public works at the time the rock wall was started two years ago and has been in general charge of the construction since. The wall has been installed to halt tidal erosion and prevent property damage from tidal and storm action and not only has achieved that purpose thus far but also has helped materially to build up the sand on the local beach.

A total of about 28,000 tons of rock was installed, Rhodes reported, of which only 6,000 tons was purchased, the main part of the rock having been salvage. From time to time the city council has appropriated small sums of money to carry on the project.

The city manager plans to submit the same report to the Army engineers when they conduct a hearing in San Diego Wednesday, June 6 on the Mission Bay development.

Rhodes also has taken cognizance of the kelp and other rubbish on the local beach and recently has made a start on a program of attempting to keep the beach clean.

Kiwanians Hear Talk On Life In Country of Persia

Backwardness There Attributed To Religion

The Mohammedan religion is the main cause of Persia being a backward country, Dr. Charles W. Lamne of San Diego, who spent 30 years in that country, told the Kiwanis club at the Tuesday evening meeting. He went there in 1913 to establish the first hospital in Tabriz, Persia's second city, where the population totaled about 200,000, he said. He blamed the ignorance and backwardness of the Persians on the Mohammedan priests who have kept the common people in ignorance in order to rule the country to their own advantage. The religion of Mohammet is really the ruling force in that country of approximately 600,000 square miles and 15,000,000 people, all except about 100,000 Christians and Armenians being Mohammedans, he said. Don Cochrane was program chairman for the evening.

At the business session, Fred Edwards of the Edwards flower shop was initiated into membership. He was introduced by Glenn Jones, membersihp chairman, and inducted into membership by Milton Lancaster, a past president.

Guests at the meeting were Capt. Burritt S. Mills of Tulsa, Okla., a past secretary of the local club, who came to town that day; Ed R. Griswold of the San Diego Kiwanis club and Dr. R. J. Lamne of San Diego, a guest of Dr. Alfred Sand.

J. O 'Tom" Plant will be program chairman for next week's meeting and will have for speaker, Treasurer Warren L. Mead, of the San Diego Padres baseball club. and several of the players as guests.

The speaker at Tuesday's meering gave an interesting account of the life and customs of the Persians and punctuated his remarks with many incidents of his long experience in that country, particularly in the treatment of their ills as they came to the hospital that he established.

He said that the Americans, Russians and British have kept a military highway open through Persia during this war for the delivery of American Lend-Lease war materiel to Russia. (Persia is now shown on many maps as Iran, the ancient name for the country.)

Two Sailors Hurt After Wild Chase In Speeding Car

The ticket for speeding they were trying to avoid proved much more serious to two sailors from the West Coast Sound School early Thursday morning when their wild ride from Mission Beach through Ocean Beach ended when they struck a house at 3819 Narragansett Ave., owned by H. W. Dvorak. They attained speeds as high as 65 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone, report Officers D. T. Baldwin and W. J. Shewbert, who were following the speedsters.

When found by the police, E. W. Gilman was lying on the ground near the house mentioned, with a broken arm and cuts on his head; and R. J. Physioc, who admitted he was driver of the car, was found walking around there suffering from cuts on his forehead, three teeth chipped and several bruises. The Ford 1929 roadster evidently was wrecked in colliding with the house. The officers reported that the sailors had run a stop sign, driven without lights and on the wrong side of the road. After being given first aid treatment the pair were taken to the hospital in an ambulance. They have citations for traffic violations hanging over them, the officers report.

Army Engineers To Hold Hearing On Bay Project

To Be Held In City Council Room In Civic Center

Army engineers have set Wednesday, June 6, starting at 9:30 a. m. for a public hearing on the Mission Bay park development project to be held in the council chambers of the Civic Center building. Ocean Beach civic leaders, because of their close proximity to the proposed improvement and their keen interest in the plan as proposed by City Planning Engineer Glenn A. Rick, are planning to attend the hearing.

Col. Rufus W. Putnam, district engineer for the corps of Army engineers, and a group of his assistants, will be there to receive data on the plan from the city officials. Rick, no doubt, will present the details of the plan that he has outlined and which appears on maps that have been posted in various business houses in Ocean Beach. Specifically the engineers wish to receive evidence on the plans and the need for a harbor for light draft vessels in the outer part of Mission Bay.

Other evidence to be sought at the hearing will have to do with "the character, location and estimated cost of improvements desired; character and volume of water-borne traffic, and the size of the craft desired improvements are intended to serve; the justification for the expenditures and their necessity."

The engineers also will want to know about the tributary area to be served by the harbor facilities and the interests primarily to be benefitted by the improvements.

All interested parties will be welcomed at the hearing, Putnam has announced. He will be particularly glad, he said, to hear from navigation interests and officials of the city and county concerning their desire for improvements.

In addition to the revenue from the $2,000,000 bond issue which San Diego voters approved at the recent April 17 election, the city council Tuesday this week pledged an allocation of $1,500,000 toward development of the proposed yacht harbor.

Congress, having authorized a survey of the southern California coast, "with a view to the establishment of harbors for light draft vessels," should the Army engineers report be favorable following next week's hearing here, is expected to appropriate federal money to augment the millions that will be made available locally. The total cost of the Mission Bay park improvement has been estimated at not less than $10,000,000

WHAT'S BUZZIN'!

By CHERIE.

There are those who are singing "When The Swallow comes back to Piggly-Wiggly!" (Meanin Gene Swallow of the meat market department, of course!)

Mrs. Johnny Gabriel is back in Topeka, Kansas on a visit with relatives. Johnny, you know, is somewhere in the South Pacific.

When people as prominent as the Elliott Roosevelts appear on the scene, there's cause for some buzzin'! And that very incident happened last week at the Veda Moss Shop. Faye and Elliott are on their way back to Hyde Park, and it's rumored that Faye is giving up her screen career.

Mrs. Mae Hearn is back in the Carolinas visiting with her daughter, Pat, who is stationed there in the Marines. Remember Mae from Kraft's Drug some time ago? And while we are on the subject of drug store employees, what ever became of Polly Nolan?

If you miss Nora Engelhardt's smiling face for the next week or so, don't bcome alarmed! She's knee deep in "Forever Amber," at last!

Jean Sutherland, former Bank employee, celebrated her 29th birthday Sunday in a most unique manner! But guess I'll let Jean give you the low-down on that celebration.

Emma Bumbaugh, pleasant and efficient bank clerk with the raven hued tresses, is vacationing from her duties.

Jake Renfro said goodbye to his many friends at the Beach this week, and took off for parts East —Idaho, I believe. Roy Plummer will continue on at the Card Room.

Serene Petcher is marking up another birthday June 5. And on the same day Betty and Glenn Karel will celebrate their fifth wedding anniversary. Happy days—folks!

Well there's a boy at the Ray Libermans, and that fixes that! It's a cinch we can't name HIM Cherie! Anyhoo, Mama and Baby are doing fine at Mercy Hospital.

The new Loma Theatre Premiere went over with a "bang" Tuesday nite! Billy Rose's "Diamond Horseshoe" starring Betty Grable played to a full house, and with each seat representing a $100 War Bond or more, San Diego is almost assured of it's quota in the 7th War Loan Drive. The marquee of the Theatre will be one of the largest in the nation, and the spire rises 150 feet in the air with a constantly flashing ribbon of color visible for miles. It is truly a beautiful play house, and will add greatly to the promising future of all San Diego.

Among those seen by your "roving" reporter were: Mr. and Mrs. Morris Fried, Mr. and Mrs. Sol Schultz, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Burrows, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Lester White of Pacific Beach, Mrs. Marvin Eby, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Naiman. Congratulations to those of the Fox West Coast Theatres who made this beautiful motion picture house possible!

OCEAN BEACH SCHOOL NEWS

Every child in the second grade of room 4 is the proud possessor of a Junior Broadcaster's card. They acquired the card when the class made a recording of an arithmetic lesson to be broadcast over KGB Wednesday, June 13, at 6:15 on the "School Days" program. This program is directed by Dr. Falk, assistant superintendent of schools.

This second grade was chosen because Dr. Falk liked the arithmetic lesson given for the principals several weeks ago.

The lesson consists of drill, thought problems from the arithmetic book and some number stories made up by the children. All the children went to the studio but those taking active parts were the following:

Joan Gumula, Carolyn Shobe, Nancy Galvan, Eleanor Neville, Glen Dickey, Jeremy Lustig, Gail Collom and Shirley Hanna.

Transportation was furnished through the courtesy of Mrs. Martha McIntosh, Mrs. Sylvia Lockridge, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Mary Noel, Mrs. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. Collom.

MORE GAS!—

"More gas."

Sweet words, especially when they're official. And they are. Each thirsting "A" card holder will receive six gallons for each coupon due after June 21 instead of four.

Well, it's encouraging to see that our victory in Europe is paying off in some small dividends on the home front. This extra allotment of gas, however, should not lead us to think that the need for gas conservation is past.

Gasoline requirements are still tremendous. The amount of fuel needed for transporting the mountains of war materials destined for the Pacific is astronomical. Here in California, which will act as the funnel through which supplies and men will be poured into the Pacific, the gasoline demand will be especially heavy. This follows from the fact that trucks must move the bulk of the tonnage to the docks. Trucks also handle two-thirds of all California's intra-state commerce, a large part of which is war goods.

It is obvious, then, that the demand for essential gasoline for our fighting forces and for the vehicles to move supplies to them remains great. So, let's enjoy our extra allotment, but let us remember that "gas powers the attack" and that we shouldn't waste a drop of it.

"CLEANING" THE CABINET—

The "cleaning" which President Truman recently gave his cabinet indicates that he has settled down to "White Housekeeping" in earnest.

The departure of Madame Perkins and Messrs. Biddle and Wickard occasioned no surprise. These and other changes have been expected ever since the new chief executive took office.

There was widespread approval of the president's new appointees. Tom C. Clark of Dallas, Texas, who becomes attorney general, is an able lawyer with a good many years experience in the Department of Justice. Federal Judge Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Spokane, Wash., a former senator who takes the post of secretary of labor, is highly regarded and was at one time a labor union attorney. Representative Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, who now will head the Agriculture department, is an authority on America's food problems. He has several farms of his own.

The fact that the trio are westerners gives recognition to this vast area which has so long been ignored in Washington.

It is also of interest to note that Anderson will be War Food administrator as well as secretary of agriculture when Marvin Jones retires as War Food head on June 30. This indicates that the long-needed consolidation of scattered, overlapping and conflicting agencies is at last under way. Many of the government labor bureaus are also expected to be returned to the jurisdiction of the Labor department.

These moves should help to make the members of the cabinet the heads of their respective departmnts in fact as well as in name.

President Truman is to be commended not only for his excellent selections, but for his steps toward bringing order out of the hodge-podge of administration which has so long existed in Washington.

Boston Massacre Told In Old 1770 Copy, Newspaper

More than a full page of the four pages of the issue of the Boston Gazette and Country Journal, of the date of March 12, 1770, was given over to a report of the famous historical event of March 5, 1770, known as the "Boston Massacre." Copy of this issue of the Boston paper, enclosed in glass, was brought to the office of The News this week by Barker Rollin E. Reed, being one of his most prized possessions.

The masthead of the paper also states that it contains "the freshest advices, foreign and domestic."

Besides the report of the "massacre," which was clearly shown to have been the result of quartering British soldiers in Boston in direct opposition to the wishes of the citizenry, the issue tells of the efforts made to get the higher-ups to have the soldiers removed.

Other main news events chronicled in the issue are the action by several towns, including Roxburg, Acton and Littleton, at their respective town meetings, against the king's imposition of taxes on tea and other articles of imported goods.

In resolutions that were passed at these various town meetings, the paper states the towns agreed that they would boycott merchants that imported the tea and also other "foreign superfluities" from Europe. Evidently these were events that led up to and were soon to be followed by the historically famous "Boston Tea Party," when cargoes of the imported tea were dumped overboard in Boston harbor by the irate Bostonians.

Evidently obituaries were not given much space in the newspapers at that time. Only mention in this particular issue, aside from telling of those killed in the "massacre," was the following brief item:

"Buried in town of Boston since our last issue, eight whites, no blacks; and baptized in the several churches, seven."

Advertisements were mostly of public sales of goods and property, which are referred to as public vendues" instead of public auctions.

Among the more personal advertisements was one for a "wet nurse," the ad being couched in language that would hardly be deemed printable in these more modern days.

Ocean Beach Camp & Hospital

By ONA E. PITCOCK

Has anyone fishing tackle that they will give to two of our boys in the hospital? They do not ask for reels, just poles, line and hooks. These two boys like to fish in a lake close to their quarters and I am sure some of you will give up your tackle to brighten life a little for them.

We need a coffee jug so badly. One that will hold about 6 or 8 cups. We received the tea pot, a few spoons and the flower bowl but did not get the coffee jug.

You see the boys at the new Recreation center can have friends or relatives visit them on Sundays and they like to serve refreshments. It gives them so much happiness and they have it coming to them. These boys are back in the U. S. A. but are not in their homes so please help make them happy. They have been through and seen so much.

Send in all the playing cards and games possible. Card tables and phonograph records are needed. If you don't have cards or records you can buy them. These are our boys and have done plenty for us.

Don't forget Wednesday is always "Coolie Day." We need more bakers as many boys are coming into the hospital daily.

You can leave articles with Mrs. Brewer at 1021 Voltaire St., if you live at that end of the beach, or bring to the Center, 4769 Del Monte.

You are your brothers keeper. Red Cross will never fail your boy, don't you fail Red Cross.

County's Payroll Cost Up $424,307 Over Past Year

The salaries and wages budget for San Diego county for the 1944-45 fiscal year totals $3,893,480, an increase of $424,307 over the $3,469,173 budget of the county for salaries and wages for 1943-44. This year's salary and wage budget is $1,002,656 or 34.7 percent more than the $2,890,624 budgeted for the same purpose for 1942-43, the first war year, California Taxpayers' association said today, analyzing the amounts provided for salaries by counties during the war period. The county budget for general purposes for 1944-45 totals $13,103,090.

In California, salaries and wages budgeted for employees of fifty-five counties totalled $65,080,498 for the present fiscal year, compared with $59,895,000 for the year immediately preceding and $53,652,009 for 1942-43.

The increased budgets for salaries and wages in the counties, the Taxpayers' association pointed out, have occurred while shortages in manpower have been evident on every side.

This means that in almost every county the amounts paid per job have been increased while the number of people employed has been reduced.

TROOP 120 GIRL SCOUTS PASS INTERNATIONAL FRIENDSHIP MILESTONE

The Girl Scout troop No. 120 under the leadership of Mrs. James Abbey and co-leadership of Mrs. George Hart have passed their International Friendship milestone. This group averages 11 years of age and constitute the intermediates of Girl Scouts. To observe this phase of their work each girl chose a country she was interested in and dressed a tiny doll in that country's made of dress. These dolls may be seen at the Ocean Beach Library where Miss Margaret Rankin has them on display in the children's department.

GOD IS MY CO-PILOT

By COL. ROBERT L. SCOTT

WNU Features.

CHAPTER IX: Burma is falling into the hands of the Japs. Flying over bombed and burned Chinese towns they land at Schwebo. Scott meets General Stilwell and his party.

CHAPTER X: Scott's group carries refugees out of Burma, heavily overloading the planes. He pays a visit to Gen. Chennault and tells him he is a fighter pilot and not a ferry pilot and is promised the next P-40 that arrives from Africa.

CHAPTER XI: Open season on Japs—the big adventure is near. Scott gets his first Jap—an army truck—on the ground. He burns up some Jap trucks and a fuel dump.

CHAPTER XII: Scott goes on some strafing missions with his "Old Exterminator," as he has now nicknamed his Kittyhawk, and cuts a Jap battalion to bits.

CHAPTER XIII: The AVG are told they are to be inducted into the U. S. army. Scott returns to India and continues his single ship raids on the Japs. He is now known back in the States as "the one man air force."

I carefully folded the radiogram to show my grandchildren when the war was over and went out to look at my ship. For I had something else on my mind too. I was going to go into Burma the next day on four of the damnedest strafing and bombing raids the Japs had ever seen. It would be my swan-song from Assam and I had to celebrate in some way or other.

I told my crew to load a 500-pound HE on "Old Exterminator," and I walked around looking the old ship over. Somehow I figured that Kittyhawk had had a lot to do with getting me the greatest job in the war. It's not every man who finally gets what he has always wanted in the Army—after being pulled out of fighters for being too old, after being an instructor for four years, after being shanghaied into being a Burma-roadster, important as the job had been. Well, I had got what I wanted and I felt as though I could jump over the moon. I patted the leering shark's mouth on old 41-1456, and caressed the prop that had taken me in and out of many messes. Then I left, while they pulled the belly tank and put the big, fat, yellow bomb under the belly, and tightened the sway braces. The sight of that bomb made me feel pretty good.

Next morning before dawn I was in the air, my course set for Homalin. As I climbed out above the clouds I began to recite poetry in rhythm with the engine. To the verses of "Gunga Din" I dropped my first bomb of the day on the docks of Homalin. Then I flew back home with the words of the "Galley Slave" going out over the radio in a private broadcast to the world. On my next trip I dropped a five-hundred-pounder on a barge at Bhamo and came back and strafed the much-abused Myitkyina. My third attack was on the railroad station at Mogaung and I strafed the empty freight-cars in the yard. I had to use a belly tank on the fourth trip, and so I couldn't take a big bomb. But I loaded on six eighteen-pound frags and set sail for Lashio. I remembered to drop the belly tank before I went down into the anti-aircraft, and I dropped the six little frags in two of the big green warehouses by the railroad tracks. I shot up the field but saw no planes, and I finished my ammunition by strafing the main street of the town. I saw two plate-glass windows spatter across the street like artificial snow from a Christmas tree, and I laughed hysterically as two figures ran from a pagoda.

That day I landed back home tired and happy. More orders had come for me: I was to go to Delhi before I went to China. I went there the next morning with "Long Johnny" Payne.

When I had received my official instructions from headquarters in Delhi, and had been wined and dined by good friends—war correspondents like Berrigan, Magoffin, and Briggs—I came on back to pack my things in Assam. I tried to take the old fighter ship with me, but my crew had chiselled a new Allison engine from somewhere—had probably stolen it from some ship, but I didn't know where. So I went on over in a transport, expecting to come back later and ferry "Old Exterminator" to his new home.

As we came down into the rain over the lake South of Kunming, I never have felt so good. This was another step to the East, towards Japan, and when I got out and saw all those sleek-looking fighting ships that my Group was going to receive from the AVG in five days, my spirits soared another mile in the air. I was through with all that lonesome "one-man war" stuff. From now on we'd be fighting as a team, with bombers escorted by fighter ships in a proper force to represent America.

I had already met most of the members of the First American Volunteer Group, but it was an even greater pleasure to meet them now. Some of them were men who were going to stay with the 23rd Fighter Group and fight under me. Of all the honors that I ever have received or ever will receive, the greatest to me will always be the honor of being given command of that great group of sky fighters under the Command of Gen. Claire L. Chennault.

During the four days that followed I took over the military equipment of the Group from the Commander of the squadron that was based at Kunming, and I got my headquarters staff organized. In this Army, Master Sergeants showing officers what to do have always been the backbone of a fighting force, and I will never forget Master Sergeant McNeven. I was certainly expecting to lead the group in its fights against the Japanese, and the administrative work that the Sergeant Major of the 23rd Fighter Group accomplished so efficiently made it possible for me to fly and have the paper-work go on at the same time.

Later in the week I heard that "Old Exterminator" was ready with a new engine. But with the report came another that some other Group was moving into Assam, and that the engineering officer had stated he knew nothing about that ship 41-1456 belonging to the Chinese Government. It would stay in India, he said. I went on and flew back to India in one of the P-40E's that we had just received from the factory that repairs them in China.

Landing at my old base, I waited until dark, and then had the numbers on the ship that I had flown in exchanged with those of my old fighter. For morale purposes alone, we had to have that ship in the 23rd Group. All this change involved was a stencilling operation to put 41-1456 on the ship that I had flown from China, and another to put on "Old Exterminator" the serial number of the fighter that I was leaving in India.

So, early the next morning, July 3, 1942, "me and the old Kittyhawk" wended our happy way across the hills and jungles of Burma to Kunming and more adventures together. From that moment, we left the Air Corps number 41-1456 on that insignificant ship in India, and for all practical purposes the old P-40E that I had used for sixty-three days over Burma became another number, but it would always be "Old Exterminator" to me. In those two months we'd flown together 371 hours over enemy territory and we were more than friends. That is somewhat over eighty thousand miles, and in combat that's a long, long way.

Adult Training Class For Bible Teachers Arranged

The Church of Christ, 1957 Abbott St., with Fred A. Amick, minister, announces an adult training class for Bible teachers being held each Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the church. The class is open to all interested in the approach method in teaching and the following through of the lesson, he says.

The "Visitation" group that has been active in Ocean Beach the past year has extended their efforts to Linda Vista. They have carried this program through May and will continue throughout the month of June, meeting each Thursday noon and afternoon in the Community building. The response has been gratifying and the extensive program has been well attended, say those in charge. Following their last meeting there in June the group will again return to Ocean Beach.

Says Quality In Novels Sacrificed To Salability

Too little attention to the quality and too much to a desire to write books that will sell is being paid by novelists of today, declared Miss Bess Clark, Point Loma high school English teacher, in her talk before the Literature group of the Ocean Beach Woman's club at the meeting, held Monday evening. Factual books on the whole are better than novels in recent years, she said.

She thought it is a good omen, however, that more people than ever are reading books and that there is a wider distribution of books than ever.

During the social hour refreshments were served at an attractive tea table by the hostess, Miss Katherine McCullough, Mrs. I. A. Hegerle and Mrs. F. F. Swan with Mrs. Julia McGarvey assisting.

Plans were announced by Mrs. R. J. Long, president of the group, for the next meeting, which will be the last of the club year. The meeting will be in the form of a dinner party to be held June 11, starting at 6:30. Miss Margaret Rankin, Ocean Beach librarian, will be the speaker, and will tell about her recent trip to Mexico City. Members may bring guests for the dinner and program, Mrs. Long announced, and are asked to phone Mrs. R. C. Kimball, B-3698, for reservations.

Point Loma High School Girls Clubs Busy Past Week

The Xzephaf and the Sphinx, two clubs composed of girls from Point Loma high school, have enjoyed two special activities the past week. Point Loma Blvd. over to the girls that they might enjoy a no-hostess houseparty. Gloria Alvarado, Anne Carmody, Dottie Shepherd, Joan Hollobaugh, Pattie Mack, Ellen Jean Marshall, Marilyn Stevenson, Margie Mishler and Penny Mishler made up the party.

On Saturday the girls finished their exams for entrance into State college.

On Monday evening 21 girls of the two clubs met at the home of Ruth Vallin, 4620 Del Monte Ave., with Nancy Snapp president of the Sphinx and Joan Hollobaugh, president of the Xzephaf presiding at a joint business meeting.

the army in April 1944 and left the states about the end of December. His wife had not heard from him direct since he landed in Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Robins have a daughter, Linda, 2 years old. Ralph has two brothers in the service. They are Sgt. James B. Robbins a gunner in the Eighth Air Force in Europe, in the 427th Sq., and Arthur F. Robins, carpenter's mate 3/c, who is on duty with the Navy in the South Pacific. Sgt. Robins is the holder of an Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters for meritorious action in air battles over Germany. Parents of the three Robins brothers live in Mission Beach.

Now on duty in the recreation department of the U. S. Naval Air Station, Seattle, Wash., John R. O'Mara, 35, of 4865 Cape May Ave., Ocean Beach, has been promoted to specialist (A) second class in the Naval Reserve, the Eleventh Naval District announced today. A graduate of San Diego State College, Specialist O'Mara is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Henry O'Mara of San Diego. Prior to enlisting in the Navy nearly two years ago he was employed by a local bottling concern.

Chief Petty Officer Beaumont Jenson, son of Rev. and Mrs. P. O. Jenson, 4692 Niagara Ave. is believed to be on his way to the Pacific battle area. He telephoned his parents Tuesday from Los Angeles stating that he was on his way to San Francisco. He had been transferred from Memphis, Tenn., where he had been an instructor in aviation ordinance for two years, and has been in the Navy for three years. His wife remains in Memphis for the time being. The Jensons have another son, Lowell, now attending State College, who had been in the Navy for 11 years, and was a chief petty officer on duty as an electrician on the Yorktown when it was sunk. Because of injuries received in the sinking of that ship he was released from service and has been home ever since.

Lieut. Paul Winn is home on a three weeks' furlough from his duties with the Marines in the Pacific. He is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Winn of 2754 Dove St.
